GLOBAL LEARNING PROGRAM

Interdisciplinary and team-taught exploration of a global issue beginning in one's first year.

Courses now span all academic levels, from first-year tutorial type courses to upper-level seminars.

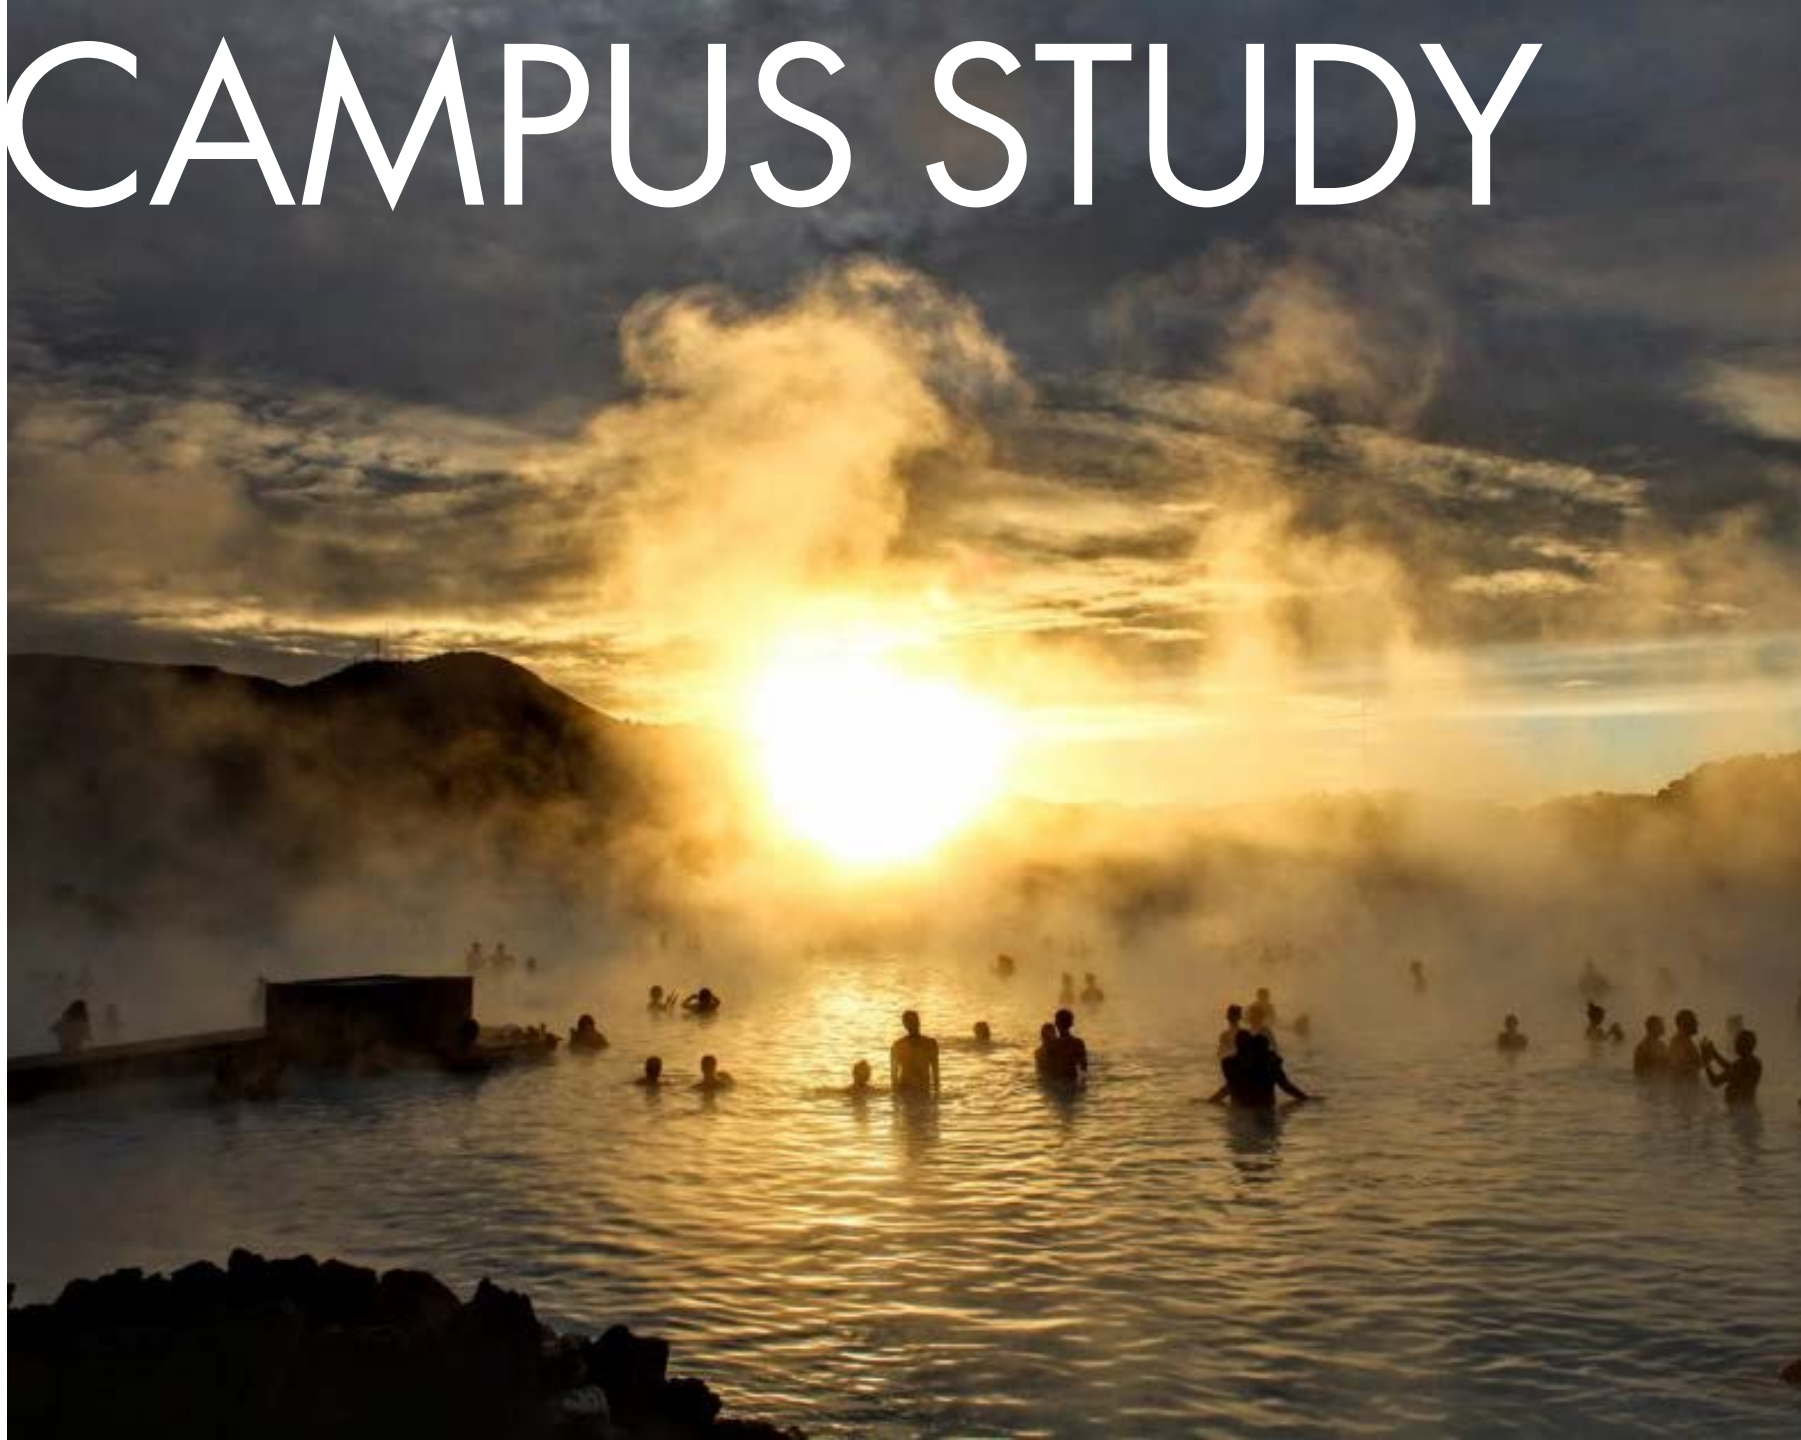

Participants must apply and preference given to those with little or no previous travel.

OFF-CAMPUS STUDY

65% of Grinnell students study off campus
for a semester or more.

OPEN DOORS

BRING THE WORLD TO CAMPUS.

GLOBAL LEARNING GOALS

1. Experience a place outside of a home country.
2. Understand a global process or system.
3. Identify a topic, custom, practice or historical debate on which people have varying attitudes; explain the reasons behind such differences.
4. Note the relationships between one's home and other places.
5. Navigate societies, work in cultures, and speak other languages.
